Report of Water Commissioners

During the year there have been three new service pipes added to the system. Some meters have been purchased and a few put on to try out, but we have not attempted to put them on generally, although this should be attended to early this Spring, before the hot weather comes on, as the waste is much more at that time.

The shoe factory has been leased to Chase, Chamberlain & Co., for a term of five years from June 1, 1914, with a privilege to renew the same for five years more, they to assume all repairs, insurance and all expense in connection with the same.

We have had the wells thoroughly cleaned during the past year and the water is coming to the pump better than for a long time before. We still believe that when the new pump is in working order another line of wells should be added during some dry period, that there may always be an abundance of water in case it should be necessary to run both pumps during a fire.

We have the new pumping station that the Town instructed us to build nearly completed and the pump set on its foundation and the connection with the wells will be completed very soon, after which the only step to complete the plant will be the installation of either an engine or motor, and the connection of the discharge pipe with the main in the street.

The cost of the pump and house to the present time is $1,924.93. You will notice that the collections from water takers this year have increased quite a little, being $2,187.98, so that even with the extremely heavy running expense on account of the excess pumping bills, amounting to $937.83 from June 13, 1912, to January 1, 1914, the balance has come $53.84 on the credit side of the balance sheet.

We believe, with the system metered and the new station completed, that the income from the water takers will more than meet expenses.

Respectfully submitted,

CARL J. WHITING,
LEWIS E. GRIFFIN,
LEWIS W. HOLMES,
Water Commissioners.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of Raymond, N. H.:

Herewith I submit my first annual report and the seventh in the series of reports of the district superintendents.

My work was assumed in November, and since then weekly visits have been made to the schools of your town. By frequent inspection and investigation I have sought to learn the present efficiency of the schools, their equipment and their most pressing needs, the existing facilities for heating, lighting, ventilating, sanitation, the text-books available for use in the schoolroom, the qualities shown by the several teachers, the methods they employ to secure results, the amount of retardation, the adjustment of the individual pupil and his grade, the attendance of pupils and the reasons for absence, the discipline, the scholarship, and the general spirit shown in the several schoolrooms. Constructive development of available resources is sought rather than destructive criticism and radical change. Some alterations in procedure have been made, but all have been such as to more fully meet the requirements of the State Programme of Studies for the Elementary Schools of New Hampshire.

Faulty attendance and a pronounced lack of punctuality persist in spite of every effort to overcome this great waste of the public money. They plainly hinder the progress of the children in their studies; they are undoubtedly the greatest causes of retardation; they reduce the amount of state aid. Attention should be called to the recent amendments of the compulsory attendance laws made by the General Court. The compulsory age limit is extended to the age of sixteen, unless the eight grades of the elementary courses of study have been satisfactorily completed beforehand. Any school district at its annual meeting may pass a by-law extending the other age limit to the age of six. While this is not always necessary, it would be well for parents to pay heed to the results of recent educational investigation as to the proper entering age of the child. The best educators of the day after testing thousands of school children are practically agreed that six years is the best age for entrance upon school duties, especially while present school curricula are used. Children between the ages of six and eight can be required by the School Board to attend regularly, when not ill, once they have entered upon school life and its duties. It is urged that parents see that their children of six or more years commence their school life at the opening of the school year in the fall. In the coming year effective steps should be taken to secure greater regularity and promptness in attendance. The tardinesses are altogether too numerous. It should be constantly kept in mind that the burden of responsibility does not rest upon the child, not upon the teacher or the School Board, not upon the Truant Officer, but upon the parent.

Several excellent steps have been taken by the School Board to improve the physical and sanitary condition of school rooms. Stone water jars have been placed in each room and the children are urged to provide themselves with separate drinking cups. Many have them now. Basins and either towels or tissue toweling should also be supplied, so that habits of cleanliness may be fostered and the books be better preserved.

The reading courses were found in the process of making. Careful attention to the best methods of presenting this subject should bear fruit before long.

At the end of the fourth year pupils should read fluently the average book found in the public library and pronounce accurately almost any common word.

In the earlier grades attractive supplementary readers supplied as fast as the children gather facility and power go far to ensure good reading. The expressional side of reading and language is being gradually improved by memorizing poetical selections, by oral reproduction, by story-telling and by dramatization.

Perception cards and charts for use in number drills are now being prepared by the teachers. Speed and accuracy in practical mental work will be emphasized to overcome the habits of mental indolence that come from too much dependence on pencil and paper.

The penmanship method introduced last year has not yet borne full results. This method is apparently the best in use at the present time. It permits of great rapidity and ease of execution. The teacher gives her full time and attention to the child and the pupils are never left to their copy-books and their own devices. The lack of physiologies in the upper grades has recently been cared for. Hygiene, the care of the health, sanitation, ventilation, the formation of correct habits in early life, the first aid to the injured, and the good and the bad effects of bacteria are emphasized in the best texts of the day. No text-books are needed for individual pupils below the seventh grade. Desk books for the teacher are sufficient for the presentation of this subject.

New programmes including several important features have been prepared by the teachers and the Superintendent.

Periods for nature study and wherever possible for music and drawing have been assigned. Correlation is so made as to accentuate the "three r's." Toy money has been provided in the lower grades to teach accurate making of change, and a knowledge of the forms of bills, checks, notes, drafts, banking, and other common business papers is required of the pupils and considerable practice is given in proper business procedure.

The programme of the High School has been so arranged as to give longer recitation periods to the most important subjects. During the coming year effort will be made to considerably strengthen and enrich the work of this grade.

Attention should be called to legislation concerning medical supervision enacted by the last General Court, permitting school districts at the annual meeting to adopt its provisions.

Rightly administered, medical supervision accomplishes much. Statistics show that one-fourth of all school children suffer from physical defects, weaknesses, or ailments which can be either relieved or cured, if taken in time. The employment of a competent medical officer, who could be consulted as to the health of the pupils and could make occasional thorough inspection of the several schools of the town, would prove an excellent method to overcome the troublesome problem of determining the actual necessity for absence, and an effective means for stopping the spread of contagious diseases and for protecting the general health of the community. This is not an expensive undertaking, especially if contiguous towns feeling the same need are willing to co-operate.

The recommendation made in a previous report that further regrading of the town schools be made to relieve congestion and to add to the teaching power and the length of the recitation periods is one that should be heeded by the citizens. I would respectfully suggest that some plan for the removal of the sixth grade pupils to the Town Hall, for the removal of the third grade pupils from the primary to the intermediate room be devised.

A new room at the Town Hall could be fitted out at small expense and used as a recitation room. The added expense would be the salary of another teacher. The grammar grades could then have the services of two teachers, and be operated on the departmental plan. A considerable gain in the time-element, and a very great increase of teaching power could be obtained in this way. The relief of the primary room has become a practical necessity.

During the coming year the citizens and those who have the duty of administering the schools should give careful thought to the development of vocational subjects in many of the towns of the state. The growth of the belief in the education of hand and eye as well as of intellect has been rapid, as is attested by the number of towns now including sewing, cooking, wood-working, agriculture, dressmaking, etc., in the work of their schools. Correlated properly there should be no decrease of time and attention given to the "three r's." School courses are becoming more and more practical, more related to life and its varied activities.

The schools are largely what the people make them. Suggestions and criticisms are welcomed by the Superintendent. Some means of bringing trustworthy, exact information to the attention of the citizens of the town should be found and employed. Assuredly there is no more important duty of the Superintendent than this. Meetings of the parents, teachers, and the school authorities could profitably be held to exchange views on local school questions and to co-operate for the welfare of the town school system.

The unfailing, sympathetic support of the members of your Board, their endeavor to make effective plans that have been outlined and put in operation; the conscientious, enthusiastic co-operation of the teachers; the cordial, generous attitude of those of the parents whom I have met is hereby recognized, and is highly appreciated. They will be a source of inspiration for greater endeavor and, I hope, a basis upon which to build for a higher degree of efficiency in the operation of our schools.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT T. LANE, Superintendent.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

To the Citizens of Raymond:

Your School Board submits herewith its joint report with the District Treasurer of the year's itemized and classified receipts and expenditures. The new form is suggested by the State and its adoption is urged in order that a uniform usage over the State and even more extensive may make comparison more readily possible. In comparison with the financial year ending February 15, 1913, it may be noted that our income is $60.00 less and our expenditures $725.00 less. This does not mean that any essential has been neglected. Four of our six teachers are normal graduates or hold State Certificate; we have paid the teacher of the Grammar and High Schools more than for some years, and for our expenditure secured the scholarship and maturity of a college junior from Bates. We have fewer pupils in High Schools and Academies, and a tuition bill consequently $167.00 less. The expense of transportation has been $145.00 less than the previous year. The fuel bill has been reduced nearly $25.00.

The Intermediate and the Freetown rooms have been fitted entire with modern steel seats and desks, and the better portion of the old seats in the Intermediate room have been put into the Gile room. Stone water-coolers have been put in all rooms, and the use of the individual drinking-cup is insisted upon. Hand dictionaries have been provided for all pupils above the fourth grade, and desk dictionaries for all rooms. The broken handbell so long in use at the Grammar room has been replaced by the installation of a tolling-hammer in the Town Hall belfry. This makes possible effective "No school" signals for the village.

We regret to report the frequent changes in the office of Supervisor. Mr. Otis H. Adams rendered our district good service for one year. Our Supervisory District, composed of Lee, Hampstead and Raymond, could not agree upon renewing the contract with him. Mr. Harry C. Waldron, after one month on the ground, asked to be excused to accept a much better opening. His successor for one month, Mr. Roy A. Kane, failed to qualify at the State Examinations. We are happy to report the organization of a larger supervisory district, comprising the town districts of Lee, Hampstead, Raymond, Hampton and Hampton Falls. Mr. Albert T. Lane has been elected Supervisor at a salary of $1,700.00. Of this sum Lee pays $300.00, Hampstead, $400.00, Raymond, $400.00, Hampton, $500.00, and Hampton Falls, $300.00. Mr. Lane's report merits your careful consideration, as the quality of his work deserves and we are confident will receive your hearty co-operation. May we call special attention to one paragraph in his report. He calls particular attention to the over-crowding of the Primary room, to which our report of last year made reference. For the sake of both teacher and pupils we must make more adequate provision for the earlier grades. Mr. Lane's proposition is that we advance the third grade to the next room, advancing Grade VI to the Grammar room. The latter room is very loosely seated and Grades VI to IX can be accommodated very easily and there is room for a thoroughly adequate recitation room which can be partitioned off at small expense. The largest item of additional expense is the addition of an assistant teacher for this room. We hope that this plan will meet your approval. We are confident that it is the least expensive and most satisfactory plan that has been suggested, much better than the plan suggested a year ago for using the lower room at the Town Hall.

We recommend the assessment of the following sums for School Purposes:

Required by law . . . . .	$1,597 50
Additional for general school expense . . . . .	1,397 50
Books and supplies . . . . .	300 00
